Question:

Why does the client side which is on Vista fail to connect to the server side that is on Windows XP sp2? (DBMR 1885; version: DBMaker 5.0)

Answer:

It is because the tested DB server and client side used different LCode,so test returned errors including LCode were incompatible and Driver's SQLSetConnectAttr failed. To add DB_LCode in dmconfig.ini in both DB server and DB client and make sure the value is the same, it may connect successfully.
